

Patents or Funder Confidentiality No Access Embargo Form

Request for one year of no access to your thesis, dissertation, or problem report (ETD) due to patents or funder confidentiality agreements

From the West Virginia University Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Policy:

The one-year no-access status secures the entire work from public and campus access. The title, abstract, and associated metadata (date of graduation, degree type, college, department, committee membership) will remain publicly available and discoverable. A student may not select embargoed status in lieu of obtaining appropriate copyright permissions as theses and dissertations are intended to be public record of examination documents.

The student, with the written approval of the student's advisor, may select a no-access embargo for their ETD due to patents or funder confidentiality. This procedure addresses situations such as when a patent application is planned or when proprietary interests are at stake. In certain cases, WVU may have rights related to intellectual property and does not want to release the work without its (WVU Intellectual Properties) permission. The graduate student will be asked to provide the reason this option has been selected.

The embargo is limited to one year from approval but may be extended for an additional year if certain conditions are met.
